FINANCIAL MARKET Further Advance in Prices, with Late Partial Recession. Stocks advanced yesterday strong and active, with higher initial prices for most issues, and during the greater part of the session the advance of the preceding day was continued, the market receding in the late trading, when attempts were made to take profits, the close, however, showing net gains for the day throughout the list, some of them being of substantial size. The subsidence of the alarm over the possibility of war as a consequence of the dispute between France and Germany regarding Morocco was reflected in an improved tone in the security markets of London and the Continent, which naturally had a good influence on the local market; and the lessened prospect of labor strikes on important Western railway systems was also a factor contributing to the advance in stocks. Another encouraging item was the weekly report of the Weather Bureau, which showed that weather conditions during the last week had been favorable to the growth of corn and wheat, and also of cotton, except along the Atlantic coast. Published figures of bank clearings for August showed a considerable increase over the totals for the corresponding month of last year, an indication of business improvement, taking the country as a whole. The leading journals of the iron and steel industry in their weekly summaries of trade conditions reported a decline in pig iron production in August, as compared with July, with a considerable reduction in stocks at furnaces, which might indicate the belief of manufacturers that demand for their products would quicken before long. Sharp advances were made in the common and preferred stocks of the Minneapolis & St. Louis and Iowa Central roads, on a revival of the report that these two roads of the Hawley system were to be linked up with a Canadian railway if the voters of the Dominion should at the election this month endorse the Laurier government, and thus insure the adoption of reciprocity with the United States; and a semi-official denial of the rumor caused only a slight recession in prices. The announcement of an increase in the Interborough Rapid Transit dividend for the purpose of enabling the Interborough-Metropolitan company to establish a sinking fund for its 4 1/2 per cent bonds, against which most of the rapid transit company's stock is held as collateral, was followed by a slight decline in the preferred stock and in the bonds, which had begun to develop strength on the preceding day; but the bonds rallied later, and closed nearly a point up. The commodity markets were firm, wheat advancing about a cent and about half a cent, and cotton futures making net advances of from 7 to 10 points. There was practically no change in rates for either time or call money, although the market for time accommodation appeared a little more firm, with holders of funds indisposed to grant concessions from their offered figures. Withdrawals of money for use in the interior are in large volume, and it is commonly expected that money rates will harden considerably before the fall is over, although no actual stringency is looked for.
